LIFE IN LOCKDOWN

Akanksha, Dehradun

The world is going through a lot of pain and suffering, recovery is slow and the life continues with a slow pace. Its yet not clear when the world will start breathing, when we can step out from our homes, when the children will run to their schools. The things are being tough and more worse each and every-day its hard to live a life like this. At, some point of time we all can realise that how animals and birds would feel when they are caged with limited food and a small man-made home for them, we all desire for open sky a life full of freedom and no restrictions. Things were easy and simple earlier and that is the reason why today we need to pay this with our lives in this limited and restricted world. Almost 200 countries is affected by covid-19 today and everywhere humans are asked to hide themselves and sit back in their homes. We all demanded for the modern life, we wished the world should turn and be a global vilage where we can connect with each other. Today, we are connected to each other by social networking platforms or through different links but we are not free enough to meet people or to visit them. We were so busy in our life that we didn't think of anything else, we all wished to succeed in our life and reach to great heights but today when we are forced to sit back in our home- I raise a question for all of us is this success worthful when we are not free enough to live and accomplish it in the way we wanted too. The shortcuts we applied in our lifestyle isn't working now no online shopping, no online delivery of food, beauty products, gadgets anything we wished to get was easily available for us. Now, this easy lifestyle is hitting us hard as we need to cook ourselves we can't get anything online now we can't travel. Life is shorted in less resources and we need to make it work out because now we don't have any other options.

As we say, slow and steady wins the race same is the condition of our society where the women's are coming up slowly to get a proper image in the society but the day is still far away for the women's to get a proper image and the deserved respect given to them. We believe in equality i.e. each for equal rations who could do all the works assigned to them whether it is giving birth to a child, to work-today's world women are not lacking behind in anything they do household work run a era just wish to get some appreciation and respect in this world where men's are more privileged than them. We talk about equality but until and unless they are given the respect and gratitude towards their work they won't be able to show case their real talents in this world. Women are the soul of a nation, life without women is impossible.

which means there is no difference between the men and women. The women's are the roots of the society. They are the true inspiing as teachers flying an airplane or working for the armed forces running a home to running the world women are superpowerful. In company travel in public meet people work as politicians, also as a social worker and many more countless things. The women of todays
